Where Addiction Meets Its Match

Parenting in Recovery: Raising Un-Addicted Kids

Our relationship with our children is a deep spiritual partnership and they have something amazing to teach us as well as we have something amazing to teach them. Parents not only can, but must take the lead in preventing their kids from getting mixed up with alcohol and other drugs. Success depends on a positive, constructive, intentional and wide-ranging approach coupled with authentic application to prevention. Here we will explore the relationship that parents must have with themselves in recovery as a foundation for teaching their kids effectively.

You will learn:

- Getting in touch with goals, value, beliefs and attitudes within our own personal recovery
- Understand what life skills are consistent with raising kids that are un-addicted
- Explore why and how life skills are important in preventing addiction in our kids
- Learn to navigate your way through the parenting cycles
- Connect with your children at a deeper level.

Wednesday, September 30th, 6:30p.m. – 8:00 p.m.
